

Authorised Use of Logos

The use of Inner Range Factory Certification logos is restricted to those individuals or dealers who have been granted Inner Range Factory Certification status of any one of the following types:

- Inner Range Accredited Dealer
- Inner Range Certified Technician
- Inner Range Systems Engineer

Regardless of the type of Factory Certification held, use of Inner Range Factory Certification logos is also subject to the following terms and conditions:

1. The Factory Certified dealer or individual may only reproduce, display or use the logo which corresponds to the type of Inner Range Factory Certification held by the dealer or individual and only whilst their Factory Certification remains current.
2. Upon expiry or withdrawal of Factory Certification status, the dealer or individual must immediately cease to display or use the Factory Certification logo.
3. The logo must be produced accurately, as per the Inner Range Logo Style Sheet which is supplied to the dealer or individual as part of the Factory Certification Pack. PMS colours are to be produced accurately and where the size of the overall logo is to be varied, all aspects of the logo must be enlarged or reduced in proportion to one another.
4. The authorised individual or dealer may only reproduce and display their corresponding Inner Range Factory Certification logo whilst they satisfy all necessary conditions of Factory Certification and provided always that the logo gives clear association with one or more Certified Technicians or Systems Engineers and does not wrongly imply the Factory Certified status of a non-certified technician.
5. The above criteria having been satisfied, the dealer or individual may display the logo on business cards, letterheads and advertising material but must not display the logo on the uniform or vehicle of a non-certified technician.
6. It is the responsibility of the dealer or individual to contact Inner Range to seek clarification, where necessary, on any on these conditions of use of the logo prior to reproducing or displaying it.

A high resolution electronic version of the logo (eps file for Adobe Illustrator) is available upon request. Please contact Inner Range Training Centre for further details.

Failure to comply with the above terms and conditions may result in the dealer or individual having their Factory Certification status withdrawn.
